New Mexico 4-H Celebrates 100 Years!

In 1911, as “Boys’ and Girls’ Industrial Clubs” organized, county superintendents of schools served as supervisors of county clubs. Each local school district had a chartered local club which was part of the county club, a forerunner of our 4-H County Councils we have today!

During 1912, outlines of club work in crops, bread, and sewing were published in The College Record and sent out over central and eastern sections of the state.

In January of that year, New Mexico Agricultural College and the Santa Fe Railway ran an agricultural train on all parts of the system. This demonstration train ran from Anthony to Raton, Albuquerque to Clovis, and from Clovis to Carlsbad. Special sessions here held for youth sharing information about organizing clubs in their area.

Help Us Grow More New Mexico YHEC Teams

Recognized as the most comprehensive youth hunting program anywhere in North America, the Youth Hunter Education Challenge (YHEC) is the National Rifle Association's (NRA) "graduate studies" program in outdoor skills and safety training for young hunters.

Open only to those who have completed hunter-safety training at the state level, the program is conducted under simulated hunting conditions to provide the best practical environment for reinforcing and testing a young hunter's skills.

From rifle, shotgun, bow and muzzleloader shooting at life-sized targets, to wildlife identification, to map-and-compass orienteering and more, YHEC participants get hands-on training in eight skills areas, giving them expertise in all methods of take, all types of game and many different target presentations.

The New Mexico Department of Game and Fish is looking to help develop more YHEC teams in our state. Existing teams hail from towns and cities including Portales, Dona Ana County, Las Cruces, Messilla Park, Clovis, Albuquerque, Carlsbad, Texico, Holman, La Mesa, Regina and Sandia Park. We would like to see more teams from urban areas and northern New Mexico.

Nationwide, YHEC programs hosted by volunteer instructors draw an estimated 50,000 youths each year.

Top ranked individuals advance to compete in the annual NRA International Youth Hunter Education Challenge, the pinnacle of the YHEC program. Every other year, the event is held at the NRA Whittington Center in Raton.

Since its inception in 1985, YHEC has reached more than a million young sportsmen and women.

For more information on starting or growing a YHEC team in your area, please contact:

District 4-H Horse Shows Northwest District June 2, 2012

Bernalillo County Hosting

State 4-H Horse Show
July 27-28

Quay County—Tucumcari

4-H Members wishing to qualify for the State Fair 4-H Horse Show in September will need to qualify through the District Horse Show or the State 4-H Horse Show and Rodeo in Tucumcari, NM

In order to qualify, a 4-H member must place in the top 6 at District Show or the top 10 at the State Show in Tucumcari. There will be no crossing district lines to qualify.

2 year old Western Pleasure Futurity and 3 year old Versatility Nominations are due

April 15th at the State 4-H Office.

Nomination forms are available on the State 4-H website and there is a $20 nomination fee. The 2 year old western pleasure futurity is for 2 year old horse which have been nominated, trained, entered and ridden by the 4-H member. NO other person can ride or show the horse. 4-H members can get on ground help and advice, but they are the only ones that can ride the horse. The same is true for the 3 year old versatility. However, these nominees need to have been nominated for the 2 year old western pleasure futurity and then as a 3 year old versatility horse. Watch for details in future newsletter.

Horse Certificates are one of those documents that 4-H members enrolled in the horse project need to do every year. The horse certificate is a form similar to a registration form. You can find it on the State 4-H website under forms and publications. They are due on April 15 to the Extension Office.

Why do 4-H'ers have to submit a certificate every year? Horses get sold, traded and or leased. This is unique aspect to a project. This is the only way that we can verify that the horse being used as the project horse, is for a 4-H member to document that they are the exhibitor, lessor or owner of that particular horse. 4-H members must submit a horse certificate for any horse that you may have to use as your project for the year.

Youth Get-Away
 “Welcome to the Future
 —100 Years of 4-H”

YGA is just around the corner so mark your calendars now! During the weekend of April 20-22nd novice and junior age participants will gather at Inlow Baptist Camp near Torreon, NM to experience and learn about public speaking, consumer decision making, leadership, rocketry and robotics.

Youth will also participate in a community service project, recreational activities and dances.

Cost for participants, junior leaders, and adult chaperones will be $110.

- Registration deadline is March 30th and is on a first come, first serve basis!
- Contact Nicole at the Extension Office for more information or to pre-register.

$100 Dollars for Habitat

This year's community service initiated by the 2011 State 4-H Ambassadors at the 2012 Senior Leadership Retreat is 100 for Habitat.

This community service project will help celebrate one hundred years of citizenship in the New Mexico 4-H program.

The challenge is for each county to raise 100 $1 bills by State 4-H Conference.

The money collected will be donated to Habitat for Humanity of New Mexico.

Leathercraft Project Workshops

Leathercraft project workshops are being offered. We prefer that member have the Tandy Leather Crafting Kit.

Bring your project books with you. We will be filling them out as we go. The dates for the workshops are:

March 24	2:00-4:00	Extension Office
April 7	2:00-4:00	Extension Office
May 19	2:00-4:00	Extension Office
June 16	2:00-4:00	Extension Office
June 21	2:00-4:00	Extension Office

If members could have the Tandy Kit before the March 24th class, that would be great, but by April 7 for sure.

If there is a enough interest, we can expand time and classes.

The goal is to work through the kit so everyone can have enough items for a Leathercraft board for the Sandoval County Fair.

Livestock Selection Workshop

A Livestock Selection workshop (Lamb, Goat, Swine) will be held at the Extension Office on Thursday, March 28th at 6:00 p.m.

4-H Agents will present information to help you select your next livestock project.

Pizza and Drinks will be provided.

4-H Field Trip to Santa Fe

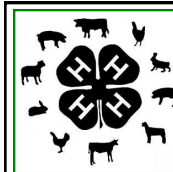

On Monday, February 20th, twenty-three Sandoval County 4-H'ers went on the Rail Runner to Santa Fe. The group went to lunch at the Burrito Co. and then had free time to walk around the plaza. Then 4-H'ers went inside the Roundhouse so they could learn about it.

The tour guide showed us many of the rooms including the House of Representatives chamber gallery, and the Governor's reception area and art gallery. The tour guide said that Santa Fe is the oldest capital city in the U.S. and many other interesting facts.

After the Roundhouse tour, the 4-H group went back on the train to go to the Bernalillo Rail Runner station. The fieldtrip was a great opportunity to learn about how and where our laws are made and to visit with friends!

Kids, Kows & More!

On February 28th, 5th graders from Rio Rancho, Corrales & Jemez Valley Public Schools went to Kids, Kows & More. The event was hosted by the NMSU's Sandoval County Cooperative Extension Service and The Southwest Dairy Farmers at the Corrales recreation center. 4-H county council officers helped out by escorting the kids from station to station.

You could learn interesting fact about agriculture and how products are made, meet farm animals in person, learn about bee keeping, wool production, and dairy cow milking. The sheep shearer said that when the lambs are about to be born, he shears the mother so the babies can find the milk to nurse. The weaving station talked about using Kool Aid to dye their yarn.

I was a good learning experience because it is important for children to learn about agriculture so they know that clothes come from materials like wool and not just from a store. They need to know that milk comes from a cow before it gets to the grocery store. The 4-H officers got to have the experience of being in charge of a big group of 5th graders. Over 850 youth were bussed in from Corrales, Jemez, and Rio Rancho Public Schools. Jayne Clifton Fife, 4-H County Council Reporter

New Mexico Youth Ranch Management Camp

New Mexico State University's Cooperative Extension Service anticipates repeating the success of last year's New Mexico Youth Ranch Management Camp by hosting the second annual event June 3—8, 2012 at the Valles Caldera National Preserve in northern New Mexico.

The camp, designed for 15 to 19 year old New Mexico youth, is an effort to reverse the aging trend in ranching.

Last year's 29 camp attendees represented ranching families from 19 New Mexico counties. With positive outcomes from last year's camp and the strong support of the program by the state's beef industry leaders, the planning committee hopes to have more youth from across the state apply for this year's camp and fill the 30 available slots. The 30 youth selected to attend this year's camp will receive training in all aspects of ranch management including livestock health and handling, wildlife habitat, range plant identification, stocking rates, marketing and ranch economics and the development of ranch management plans.

Throughout the week, participants will work in teams and ultimately present a ranch management plan before a review panel as they compete for prizes and scholarships.

Applicants can learn more by viewing the camp's website at <http://nmyrm.nmsu.edu>.

Applications are Due April 20th

A panel of industry leaders will review the applications and select the participants by May 1.

Successful applicants must submit a $250 camp fee by June 1.

Call the Extension Office for the New Mexico Youth Ranch Management Application.

2012 EXHIBITION SEASON: ADDITIONAL GUIDELINES FOR BREEDING SHEEP AND GOATS

Pursuant to 9 CFR 79.2 and 9 CFR79.3, 21 NMAC 32.2.8.3, 21 NMAC 32.4.12 and 21 NMAC 32.4.17, all breeding sheep and goats must be permanently identified with NMLB approved forms of official identification. Implantable microchips are not approved official identification by the NMLB and USDA in cattle, sheep, goats and swine.

All breeding sheep and goats must have official identification. NMLB approved official identification is as follows:

1) Master brand tattoo, 2) Breed registry tattoo, 3) USDA scrapie tag 4) USDA NMF 840 tag. Specific ID instructions for registered and unregistered animals are listed below. The USDA NMF 840 tag and the USDA scrapie tag are both official IDs that are associated with a specific animal for life. DO NOT LOSE THESE TAGS; YOU WILL USE THEM AGAIN FOR THE LIFE OF THE ANIMAL. All Unregistered animals must have a NM sheep/goat master brand number tattooed in the animal's ear. 4H/FFA members may use the 4-H or FFA sheep/goat master brand.

1) Registered breeding goats must have:

- Permanent legible breed registry tattoo placed in the ear, tail web or flank. A breed registry tattoo may be used in lieu of a USDA scrapie tag.
- USDA NMF 840 tag must be attached to a neck chain and worn during the show and check-in with the breed registry number printed with indelible ink on the reverse side of the tag;
- If the breed registry tattoo is not legible, the owner must utilize a USDA scrapie tag and attach it to the neck chain in addition to the USDA NMF 840 tag (with breed registry tattoo appearing on reverse side of tag).

2) Unregistered breeding goats must have:

- Permanent legible NM sheep/goat master brand tattoo permanently tattooed in the ear, tail, web or flank and a USDA scrapie tag. 4-H/FFA members may use the 4-H or FFA master brand number (see below).
- USDA NMF 840 tag must be applied to the ear or attached to a neck chain and worn during the show and check-in with the master brand number printed with indelible ink on the reverse side of the tag.
- The USDA scrapie tag may be placed in the ear or attached to the neck chain in addition to the USDA NMF 840 tag (with master brand number printed on reverse side of tag).

3) Registered Breeding Sheep must have:

- USDA scrapie tag applied to the ear. Breed registry tag or tattoo should be present in the ear, if required by the breed registry.
- USDA NMF 840 tag may be applied to the ear or attached to a neck chain with the breed registry number printed in indelible ink on the reverse side of the tag.

4) Unregistered Breeding Sheep must have:

- USDA scrapie tag applied to the ear and a NM sheep/goat master brand number permanently tattooed in the ear.
- USDA NMF 840 tag may be applied to the ear or attached to a neck chain with the master brand number printed in indelible ink on the reverse side of the tag.

5) IMPORTANT: The owner, county extension agent and FFA advisor are responsible for maintaining records of the USDA scrapie tag number; the NMF 840 tag and the permanent official tattoo.

6) Unregistered animals: New Mexico Sheep/Goat Master Brand numbers are used as tattoos for unregistered animals.

- 4-H/FFA members may utilize their own master brand number, or the 4-H or FFA official tattoo.
- Senior (adult) open exhibitors: Animals must be tattooed with the owner's master brand number and comply with the USDA scrapie tag requirements (see #2 or #3 above).

NOTE: Master brand numbers for use by 4H and FFA members only:

The 4-H MASTER BRAND NUMBER owned by the NMSU Cooperative Extension Service is: S0803

The FFA MASTER BRAND NUMBER owner by the NM FFA Association is: S1364

7) Pygmy Goats → 6 months and older require a permanent legible breed registry tattoo placed in the ear, flank or tail web.

If the entire breed registry tattoo is not legible, the owner must utilize a USDA scrapie tag with the breed registry number printed in Indelible ink on the reverse side of the tag attached to neck chain.

Junior exhibitors (4-H/FFA, etc.) showing at NM fairs in youth classes must have an USDA NMF 840 tag attached to a neck chain in addition to the above requirements.

- Under 6 months require a scrapie tag around the neck with the breed registry number printed in indelible ink on the reverse side of the tag. Junior exhibitors (4-H/FFA, etc.) showing at NM fairs in youth classes must have an USDA NMF 840 tag attached to a neck chain in addition to the above requirements.
- Pygmy goats from out of state exhibited at NM fairs: no tattoos required, microchip numbers must be listed on CVI.
