

College Visioning Team Membership

The College of Agriculture and Home Economics' visioning team was initiated as a body appointed by Dean Lowell Catlett in July 2006. The team adopted a rotation plan in January 2007 to allow for three elected extension faculty members, three research/teaching faculty members and three staff members, with each group rotating one person off each year. Elections for new members took place in the springs of 2007 and 2008. With the 2009 ballot, one person from each category will be elected and the resulting team members will all be elected. The current team is as follows:
