Preparing to Shoot
Go early if possible
Batteries? Disk space?

Be prepared to shoot a lot of photographs. Be sure you have fresh batteries and adequate disk space to store your photos. It’s always better to have several photos to choose from.
Getting Access

Ask before the event.
Covering the event

Be invisible to others.
Fill the Frame

Get closer.
Think About the Foreground

Having something in the foreground, such as the top rails of this fence, helps frame the subjects.
Mind the Background
Room to Run
Leading Lines

A road, a log, a valley, or in this case, a rope, all can lead into the photo from the foreground to a point of interest.
